Problems stall Hwy. 603

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

Well, the construction on Highway 603 will not be finished by its scheduled completion date of today, that is for sure, but it should be completed by late fall or early spring.

Steve Twedt, with the Mississippi State Department of Transportation, said the reason the highway is not completed yet is because of delays with utility companies and the weather.

"There are temperature limitations on us when there are cold spells, but we hope for the project to be completed by late fall or early spring," Twedt said.

The current project is extending from the junction of Hwy. 603 and Hwy. 90 to Stennis International Airport. Twedt said that the extension to Hwy. 43 will not be done in this contract and that preliminary work has not yet begun for that project.

Because the new four-lane highway will be eliminating some wetland areas near Bayou LaCroix bridge, workers are creating new ones.

"Because we extended the highway, we had to eliminate a section of wetlands in that area.

Because we had to eliminate wetlands, we have to either create new ones or enhance existing ones, so therefore, workers are currently creating new wetland areas near Bayou LaCroix bridge," Twedt said.

The many delays in the construction of the new highway started with a problem between MDOT and the City of Waveland in July, 1993.

Gas lines had to be moved by the contractor in order to start work on the project.

MDOT and Waveland had a disagreement as to who was to pay for the gas line removal and Waveland did not have the funds to move over 7,000 feet of high-pressure gas lines.

MDOT contended that the owner of the utility, Waveland, was responsible for the cost.

It's not over yet—the Mississippi Transportation Commission filed an injunction in the Hancock County Chancery Court for declaratory and injunctive relief, asking the court to let MTC move the line that was hindering their ability to complete the project.

The bid for the project was

Possession lands three in jail

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

There's that old saying, "There is no honor among thieves." Well, evidently, there is no honor among alleged drug users either.

The Hancock County Narcotics Task Force made an arrest on a warrant. The suspect had an idea who turned her in and told law enforcement officers that he had crack cocaine in his pocket.

Detective Terry Eley, with the Narcotics Task Force, then returned to the home of the man and asked if he had crack in his pocket.

According to Eley, the man said that he had medication in his pocket and the officer asked to see it.

"In the medicine bottle were three rocks of crack cocaine. He was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance," Eley said.

The man arrested was Otis Lee Davis, 45, 204 Watts St., Bay St. Louis. He was arrested Monday at 4:48 p.m.

Eley said that Davis was also arrested on the same charges during the Fourth of July drug roundup that the task force performed.

Also arrested, on Friday, July 21, during a separate incident, was Stanley LeBlanc, 8022 Lakeshore Rd., Bay St. Louis.

LeBlanc was arrested near the 300 block of South Street in Waveland on charges of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

Eley said that LeBlanc was found to have in his possession one pound of marijuana with an estimated street value of $1,200 to $1,300.

LeBlanc is out on bond and a court date has been scheduled for 3 p.m. Aug. 9.

Casino district talks set tonight

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Zoning for the "newly annexed" casino area of Bay St. Louis comes up for discussion tonight.

The Planning and Zoning Commission members meet at 7 p.m. at Bay High School auditorium, to gather the public's ideas on the proper way to zone the 600 hundred acres the city annexed in 1991.

Annexation of the Bay Cove/Cedar Point area preceded development of Casino Magic, but officials have never officially zoned the land.

Commission chairman Les Fillingame said the area likely will either be designated as a "special use district," or fall under the terms of a new zoning category that could be added to the city's laws.

There's not much difference between those two options, he said, but expanding a special use district would be more difficult than adding to a zoning category.

Although the Bay Cove/Casino Magic tract carries no official zoning, it falls under the restrictions of city building codes and site planning requirements. In addition, the casino's developers and city officials reached a "pre-annexation agreement" governing some aspects of the development.

Likely topics of discussion tonight include casino-generated traffic, access routes to the casino, and plans for construction of the casino's proposed hotel, golf course and lodge accommodations.

Tonight's meeting is the fourth in a series of public sessions the commission has sponsored as it puts together a comprehensive development plan for the city.

Hancock board advised on tests

Floor tiles not asbestos

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

The tests are in and there is no asbestos in Hancock Elementary.

"The testing that we did was a precaution. We did not know if that was asbestos tiles or not. We had an architect certified in asbestos removal to take a sample so that we would know what we were dealing with," Hancock County School Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois said.

Bourgeois said that the two layers of tile that were covering the floors of Hancock North Central Elementary would be removed and new tile should be down in a week or so.

The board was told of the possibility of there being asbestos under the tiles at HNCE and that it was being tested at their last board meeting by assistant superintendent Ed Danzey.

At the board meeting Monday morning there was some discussion concerning students who have requested to attend in the Picayune School System and a new contract that Picayune is now forcing out-of-district students have the school boards, from the county where they live, sign, saying that they will be responsible for any extra expense that Picayune would have to spend on the child should they develop special needs or become handicapped.

The board became aware of this new contract because a mother presented it to the board for their approval so that her daughter could attend kindergarten in the Picayune School District.

What confused the board members and Bourgeois is that they have not seen this contract for any other student that they have released.

"We have released lots of students, why now, this child is perfectly normal. Why weren't we presented with these contracts before now?" Bourgeois asked.

Local youth electrocuted

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

The life of a 16-year-old boy ended tragically Monday after he was apparently electrocuted by a welding machine at the family's home.

Michael McLain, 8460 Leake St., Bay St. Louis, was pronounced dead at 5:15 p.m. at Hancock Medical Center.

"Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Bay Side Fire Department and Mobile Medic were called to the scene at 3:43 p.m. and worked frantically to save the boy, who was found by his next-door neighbor. She then went inside and woke up the father.

"They called 911 and tried to do CPR before we arrived," Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said.

Peterson said that after conducting their investigation it was determined that McLain had been playing with a small, portable welding machine that was not grounded.

McLain reportedly was barefoot and was playing with the welding machine in an area where the ground was wet.

"This was just a terrible accident," Peterson said.

McLain was the son of Jessie and Lorraine McLain and a student at Hancock High School.

Lodge approved by council

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Plans for a $6 million lodge at Casino Magic and a new Waffle House on Highway 90 breezed through Bay St. Louis City Council on Tuesday night.

At the same time, councilmen were surprised to learn the casino has blocked part of Engman Avenue, and asked that it be immediately reopened.

Council attached stipulations to the site plans of the lodge and the new restaurant, as suggested by members of the Planning and Zoning Commission, and cleared the way for construction of the unrelated projects to begin.

The Waffle House is set for construction just west of the new Key West Inn being built on the south side of Highway 90 near Drinkwater Drive. Stipulations for the project's approval include a requirement that the ground sign for the structure be at least 100 feet away from the new motel's sign. In addition, the city is requiring more lighting for the parking area than originally proposed.

Casino Magic's lodge plans had been previewed by council last week, but action was postponed to give planning officials time to review the proposal.

 To: My Grandfather, Carl Thomas Sr.

The Worker.
 There's a man to me. When I think of strength compared to no other. My Grandfather the worker.

He had nine kids whom he clothed and fed. For them he worked hard. From the time he got up until he went to bed. He was harsh yet a provider. He was and still is a worker. To ease his pain from the working strain. He became a drinker, but it made life lame so he quit. Now he helps others do the same. No longer a drinker. He's now an A.A. speaker. He's a worker.

Now today his heart in his body is growing weaker, but the heart in his soul beats much stronger. My Grandfather, the lover, the fighter, the helper, the provider. The very hard worker. He gave his love through his back and hands. He may not have much, but he faced everyone of life's demands. He was a painter, a fisher, an A.A. speaker. He is a very hard worker. He only had a third grade education. He had to quit school to help his family's financial situation. Yet he taught himself to read and write, and he graduated from the school of life. He's a rare breed a survivor. He's a worker. My Grandfather, the worker.

I love you Grandpa! Your Grandson, Kevin. Sadly missed by Wife Anges, Sons, Daughters, Grandchildren, great-grandchildren, Family and Friends.

AmeriCorps begins recruitment

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced that it has begun recruitment for the AmeriCorps National Service Program.

AmeriCorps is President Clinton's national service initiative to achieve direct results in addressing the nation's critical education, human service, public safety and environmental needs at the community level.

AmeriCorps provides opportunities for Americans of all ages and backgrounds to serve their country in organized efforts, fostering citizen responsibility and building their communities. USDA will play a key role in the overall AmeriCorps program.

The Southeast Mississippi Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Area Office will be recruiting applicants from the Southeast Mississippi area to serve in the USDA Rural Development Program.

To be eligible for the rural development portion of the program, applicants must have a college degree.

The person who is selected for the program will work for a year earning a stipend of $12,000 and then receive an education award of $4,725 for college tuition or loan forgiveness.

Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy urged all interested Americans to apply. Said Espy, "AmeriCorps is grounded in the mainstream values of community, responsibility and opportunity."

"It is good for the participants, who benefit from their increased ability to attend college — good for communities, which benefit from their service — and good for the country, which benefits from a renewed civic spirit."

To apply for the program or obtain more information, call Glen Powell at (601) 545-2753 or the toll-free national USDA AmeriCorps hot line at 1-800-880-4183.

Seniors urge repairs in Bay building

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Bay St. Louis may have to demolish the dilapidated headquarters of local senior citizens' programs, Mayor Eddie Favre said Tuesday.

But the mayor — facing a large, elderly audience — promised that the city would find other accommodations for the programs if the building is too far gone to be renovated.

Favre said it's "sad" that substantial money was spent six to eight years ago on a renovation project that was never completed. He said he didn't know why that project was dropped by the previous administration, but estimated full renovations at the building would cost $300,000 to $400,000 today.

The city is near completion on major renovation of the adjoining gymnasium.

But the senior citizens program is plagued by ceiling tiles cascading to the floor, poor lighting, an uncovered electrical panel box, a broken-down air conditioning system and serious drainage problems, council was told Tuesday by program officials.

It was their second trip to City Hall Annex within recent months to complain. "This is not the first time it's been called to the mayor's attention," said Arlene Jensen of conditions at the city-owned complex behind the fire and police station off old Spanish Trail.

The entrance to the program's offices has never been completed, leaving unfinished walls and ceiling areas. In addition, there are no lighting fixtures in the entrance area, leaving a dark, dangerous path for senior citizens, officials said.

Garbage cans catch dripping water inside, but one elderly woman slipped on a wet spot and broke her leg, council was told. The parking lot has been patched so many times that its elevation is higher than the building itself, leading to flooding inside the structure, program officials said.

Favre and members of City Council had viewed the conditions earlier in the day, and were in full agreement that the situation is bad.

The mayor said city officials are studying whether it's economically feasible to finance the extensive renovations that are needed, or whether the city would be wiser simply "walking away from it and starting over."

Meanwhile, he promised the city would tackle some simple, inexpensive repairs that can be completed immediately to make the structure safe. And, he emphasized that the city has no intention of displacing the senior citizens' programs permanently.

Councilman James Thriffley said program participants and officials shouldn't hesitate to bring problems to the city's attention for action. "Don't be bashful," Thriffley said.

The FRA is open to all active and retired enlisted members of the U.S. Navy, U.S. Coast Guard and the U.S. Marine Corps.

For additional information, call Ron Slank at (601) 863-5721.

Lodge

The commission didn't meet formally on the matter, but reviewed the site plans individually and agreed on stipulations requiring at least 400 parking spaces be provided for the project. Of those, 225 would satisfy the requirements of the new lodge, and 175 would replace slots lost to the construction of the two lodge buildings.

Councilmen Charles Scianna and Tad Black questioned why the casino had blocked off Engman several weeks ago, and asked that the road be reopened immediately. Mayor Eddie Favre said the casino had been put on notice months ago that the entire stretch of Engman is public roadway, and is to remain open to general traffic.

Meanwhile, planning commission chairman Les Fillingame said casino officials are anxious to begin construction of the 200-unit lodge project on property west of Engman and north of Felicity Street.

Plans for the exact location of a swimming pool and the lodge's office are incomplete, he said, and will have to be reviewed by city officials later.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I continue to receive comments about one-eyed vehicles in the area.

One resident could not wait to tell me Saturday morning they had spotted a one-eyed patrol vehicle on his way to work before daylight.

Another told me how police recognized his vehicle one night and gave him a telephone call later at home to tell him he had a headlight that was out.

I guess it all boils down to the fact there are those who realize the importance of vehicles having both headlight operational.

I suggest all motorists should, or have someone else check to see if both of their headlights are working.

All it takes is a loose stone to strike a headlight and most times it is put out of commission.

I know I have lost several headlights to stones and have had a few cracks in windshields.

Many students are wondering, 'My, how fast has this summer passed,' while some parents are saying, 'Summer sure has been long.'

August 11 & 12 is fast approaching when school bells will begin ringing for the Hancock County and Bay St. Louis Schools Systems, respectively.

It will not be long before there will be no summer vacation days during the month of August for students.

It seems school openings are moving closer and closer to August 1 each year.

If you haven't done your back-to-school shopping, the time is now to begin planning.

And while doing your back-to-school planning, plan on shopping at home.

When you shop at home, you help your neighbors and friends.

Work has been going on night and day at the McDonald Ball Field in order for the girls tournament games to be played.

Bay St. Louis Parks & Recreation workers, have really been challenged with the numerous showers, but they have not dampened their dedication and enthusiasm in having the diamond ready for play.

Others who have made contributions are Bill Carraige, merchants, parents and volunteers.

The park is now fenced, and this is a big safety measure. Since I live less than a block from the ball field, I have seen on several occasions youngsters dash out into the street chasing a ball.

A lot of improvements have been made at the McDonald Field this year, new buildings and everything freshly painted.

The ball field has also brought a lot of visitors to Bay St. Louis. The recent state girls softball tournament, and the section play happening this week.

While on the subject of rain, over the years I have visited some rain forests and witnessed several of the daily showers.

I hope the climate is not changing and we become a rain forest, as it has been raining every day, two or three times some days.

The county, cities and homeowners are all having troubles cutting their water logged lawns.

One of these days I will be writing about a dry spell, and really, it will be a welcomed relief.

Elmwood Manor

Elmwood Manor Summer Home on Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis, was on a postcard produced for the Saenger Amusement Company. Waveland resident Lena Cuevas (then of New Orleans), received the postcard, dated July 14, 1926, from her cousin Amelia, who was at St. Margaret Daughters Camp in Bay St. Louis. The message talks about a watermelon party, and how a group of fellows serenaded the vacationing girls. (Photo courtesy of Lena Cuevas). The Echo welcomes photos older than 25 years for publication. They will be returned to their owners.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bay Community Association objects to T & G label

To the Editor:

The board of directors of the Bay St. Louis Community Association urges the Hancock County Tourism and Gaming Association to stop irresponsibly labeling everyone who disagrees with them as being opposed to growth and change.

The members of the Bay St. Louis Community Association fully support real progress which, more than simply promoting tourism and gaming, means planned development and growth of all the aspects that make Bay St. Louis a most viable city.

Good zoning practice produces sound long-term investment in a community, convenience of getting from one place to another, acceptable levels of traffic and personal safety, access to recreational facilities, historic preservation, and environmental protection, just to name a few desirable assets.

Our Association supports strong enforcement of sound, legal zoning regulations. We make no apology for it; we are proud of it. We want Bay St. Louis to remain a place apart.

We take positions on zoning issues based on research of their legal aspects, professional planning advice, and common zoning practice in communities similar to ours.

Consequently, we are aware that bed and breakfasts, though welcome as a wonderful addition to the city, are not a home occupation, are akin to boardinghouses and hotels for zoning purposes, and are normally permitted in multi-family and mixed use (commercial and residential) districts, not in single-family residential districts.

Whether the bed and breakfast is granted as a special exception or change in zoning makes no difference. Either way, it could later be claimed as a change in character of the neighborhood and become the basis for further commercialization.

This is not the first time that the Hancock County Tourism and Gaming Association has lobbied for the commercialization of Bay St. Louis's residential neighborhoods. The group is clearly seeking to accomplish their own financial goals at the expense of Bay St. Louis residents.

So be it. But they can spare us the hypocrisy of constantly accusing Bay St. Louis citizens of standing in the way of "progress" because Bay residents favor planned, sensible development that benefits all, not just a few.

Sincerely yours,
Peggy Dutton, Chairman
Bay St. Louis
Community Association

Beach resident takes issue with 'deep water' signs

Dear Editor,

The warning signs off South Beach between Ramoneda and Whispering Pines, "Danger, Deep Water, No Swimming," are oxymora. Deep water is not a danger, per se, to swimmers, but to non-swimmers.

They could better read "No Wading." Wading in deep water can be fatal.

However, the water at the signs nearest the beach is only knee-deep at high tide. And from the beach at Bay Oaks Drive you can wade 15 to 20 feet beyond the farthestmost sign posts before reaching deep water.

Sincerely,
Henry A. Fly

Subscriber says Simpson only played football

To the Editor:

I cannot believe how many Americans are treating O. J. Simpson like a hero!

I do not know of any great thing he has done except play football.

There are many great football players, but did they stalk, threaten to kill and many times beat their wives?

Four million women are victims of cruel, unbearable abuse each year.

I personally know many cases of abused and suffering women. How do I know about abuse?

I have been there, and am thankful that I still have both eyes, legs and arms — and my life!

I had to run and hide for many years to survive! I, like many other women, carry the scars of physical and mental abuse.

O. J. Simpson's wife was not a celebrity — only a wife and mother. Now she and the young man who were brutally killed cannot live out their lives.

Is there no concern and compassion for these young people? What about their families, the children, the friends and how they must feel the pain and suffering now and for the rest of their lives.

I truly wish that every man, regardless of race, white or black, would be sent to Singapore and given the cane beating to let them know the pain of a beating!

Is O. J. Simpson guilty of two brutal murders? American law says that a person is innocent until proven guilty. We soon will see. Stalking, beatings, threatening to kill his wife? Yes, I believe O. J. Simpson is guilty!

I sometimes wonder if Charles Manson, Jeffrey Dahmer, the Menendez brothers, Leroy Evans, who killed and raped a sweet little girl and all the others who have committed horrible crimes — are they all well and comfortable?

Some hopeful for writing new state Constitution

Oh good, the old 1890 Constitution is being hauled out of mothballs again for an airing by some hopeful citizens who are trying to revive interest in writing a new state basic document.

A mock Constitutional Convention was put on last weekend at the state Capitol under the aegis of the Mississippi Economic Council.

Apparently the folks present took the experience seriously with the idea that they could fan new life in the dying embers of enthusiasm for rewriting the century-old Constitution.

The MEC has long been one of the new civic organizations in the state to make a new Constitution one of its continuing objectives. It's heartening to see the MEC hasn't closed the book on what seems to be a fruitless goal in Mississippi.

True, the MEC seems to be hung up mostly on the objective of strengthening the governor's office by making several state cabinet officers appointive by the governor rather than elective.

The Attorney General, the Secretary of State, the treasurer and most of the judiciary would be switched to appointive under the MEC plan.

The appointive state cabinet idea is not entirely a new concept in Mississippi, incidentally, but it has always been greeted with stiff opposition from legislators and much of the public because of the traditional pride the state has in choosing a laundry list of officials by election. There is also a new concern brought about by the emerging division of political partisanship since the rise of the Republicans as a potent political force.

There are, for instance, many in the legislature and around state government who are less favorable to the appointive idea than they were formerly because of the prospect Gov. Kirk Fordice would be the appointing officer. Fordice has made political philosophy an undergirding concern in his choices of appointees which means that only Republicans, his kind of Republicans, are suitable.

Strangely in all the years in the past when Democrats held the office of Governor, no litmus test of party philosophy was ever of any consequence in the selection of appointees, although governors liked to have their favorites where possible. Sometimes it even happened that appointees had voted for some Republicans in the past.

There is much more than the matter of making certain state officials and judges appointive, however, that needs to be addressed in rewriting the antiquated state Constitution. A whole face-lift, not just surgery on certain parts of the body of the Constitution is needed and hopefully that is the broader concept of the recent MEC project.

A modern state Constitution has been a long-sought, monumental governmental reform that has virtually cost several governor their political careers when they fought for one. Gov.

Mike Conner in 1932 was the first to valiantly battle for a constitutional convention, winning the fight in one house but losing it in the other.

Again in 1958, Gov. J. P. Coleman, made a constitutional convention the prime goal of his administration, but he too was thwarted by a recalcitrant old guard in the House of Representatives. Both Conner and Coleman saw their political fortunes go downhill after they lost their constitutional convention efforts.

Gov. Ray Mabus had a constitutional convention as one of his four top priorities when he was elected in 1987. After scoring quick, early victories in both the House and Senate at the 1988 session, the convention-calling resolution languished in a conference committee for weeks because of the different "untouchable" subjects that the separate versions provided.

Although it appeared an easy matter to get it out of conference and adopt it by the legislature, the resolution died in a fuzzy session-end deadlock. At the root of the causes were such issues as the right to work provision which pro-business organizations (such as the MEC) wanted to keep hands-off and the size of the legislature, which black members wanted to make certain was not reduced.

Republican Gil Carmichael of Meridian, who made strong bids for governor in the 1970s and for lieutenant governor in 1983, pushed the constitutional convention issue as an urgent need to lift the state out of its orbit of drift.

He even brought together an ad hoc statewide non-partisan committee in the mid-80s to draft a constitutional convention resolution (I was one asked to serve on the committee) but its efforts went for naught.

Gov. Bill Allain went to great lengths to appoint a massive constitutional study committee in 1986 which labored for weeks to adopt proposed new sections of a prototype Constitution. While the study committee was earnestly preparing its draft, the legislature looked on in mock interest but did nothing.

Even Kirk Fordice said that constitutional revision was something he was particularly interested in when he was running in 1991 but in office he has done nothing to really follow through.

An Open Letter To Technical Support Services Contract Employees At Stennis Space Center

Dear Colleagues:

As most of you may know, during the past several months, NASA conducted a competition to select a contractor for the important Test and Technical Services Contract (TTSC) at Stennis Space Center. Several well respected aerospace firms entered the competition.

On July 14, NASA announced that Lockheed Space Operations Company had been selected for final negotiations leading to award of the Test and Technical Services Contract.

All of us at LSOC and our subcontractor team members were very pleased to be chosen.

At the same time, we realize that the upcoming change of contractors may be disruptive or even traumatic for the men and women presently working on the Technical Support Services Contract.

Let me assure you that it is Lockheed's intention to make employment offers to the majority of the incumbent work force and that when our responsibility for the TTSC begins on September 1, the vast majority of our TTSC personnel - and of our subcontractors - will be people who are now working on the contract.

The TTSC workforce enjoys an excellent reputation and we are confident that this record of achievement will continue when LSOC assumes its responsibilities for the contract.

I urge everyone who wants to be considered for TTSC employment to:

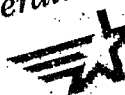

- Pick up a Lockheed or subcontractor employment application at the Ramada Inn, 798 East I-10 Service Road, Slidell, LA.
- Complete the application and return to the same location.
- Lockheed will acknowledge, in writing, the receipt of all applications; and applicants selected for an interview will be contacted.

We will work very hard to assure that affected personnel are treated fairly and that the transition of the TTSC to Lockheed goes as smoothly as possible.

Sincerely,

John W. Thomas

Use tricks to give cats healthy diet

By Dr. Wynn Jones
Veterinarian
MSU College of Veterinary Medicine

"I have spoiled my 5-year-old cat since the first day I got her. She is extremely affectionate, intelligent, sociable and quite fat."

"Over the years I have given her too many treats and table scraps, which has resulted in a fat, yet happy cat. My veterinarian has recommended a weight reduction diet, but she will not eat the food I buy."

"She watches me at dinner time and silently meows, making me feel like a heel as I eat each bite of food. I know she must lose weight, but how can I get her to eat the prescribed food?"

This will require discipline and persistence on your behalf. A fat cat is not really a happy cat, and allowing her to remain overweight surely will reduce her life span.

That silent meowing is the oldest trick in the book among the feline population. And your cat's sole purpose of doing this is to make you feel guilty.

Don't fall for it. Stick to your guns and remember most healthy cats will not go hungry when food is available.

There are a few things you can try to get your cat to eat.

Cats, like people, are attracted to food by the smell of it. Try sprinkling a small amount of aged garlic powder on your cat's food. Most cats find the smell irresistible. Brewer's yeast, onion powder or cod liver oil added to your cat's food also may entice your cat to eat.

Sometimes camouflaging your cat's food may encourage her to eat. Mix the new food with a small amount of the food she loves best.

Because small of food is the big attraction with felines, the older, more familiar food might convince her to try it.

Gradually increase the new food and decrease the old food for about four to six days until only the new food is served.

It may take time to break your cat of her old eating habits, but soon she will realize that eating her new food is better than no food at all.

***
"We have an 11-year-old poodle that is the picture of health. He doesn't seem to be slowing down at all. The only thing I have noticed is when he gets a mild scrape or abrasion it takes it longer to heal than usual."

"Not long ago, a minor cut ended up infected, and we had to take him to the veterinarian. Could he have some type of skin problem?"

The problem is called aging. Even though your dog apparently is in excellent health, he still is not immune to the effects of the natural aging process.

It's not unusual for a mature dog to take longer to recover from minor wounds, cuts or abrasions. To help prevent infection, trim the hair around the wound close to the skin. Then wash the area with plenty of clean water or saline.

You may need to protect the wound by applying a simple bandage for a few days. And be sure to check the wound for swelling or signs of infection.

THE SEA COAST ECHO - THURSDAY, JULY 28, 1994-1B

Bay St. Louis all-stars participate in tourney

BABE RUTH 11- & 12-YEAR-OLD ALL-STARS

The Bay St. Louis 11-12-year-old Babe Ruth All-Stars recently participated in the state all-star tournament July 14-19 in Brandon, Miss.

Game 1: Bay Vs. Meridian American League, Bay St. Louis 8, Meridian 7

It looked like Bay St. Louis would be quickly eliminated from the tournament, as Meridian jumped out to an early 6-0 lead after two innings.

Pitcher Ty Barrett settled down, and the defense came alive as Bay St. Louis held Meridian scoreless in innings 3-6.

The Meridian pitcher had a perfect inning going through two innings before Bay St. Louis bats came alive, scoring two runs in the third, fourth and fifth innings to tie the score at 6.

Dawson McCall came on to pitch the 7th and 8th innings for Bay St. Louis, keeping the Meridian hitters off balance in the 7th inning.

In the top of the 8th, Meridian bats again came alive, yet could only manage one run as the defense, led by Evan Coote, and Jason Santiago shut down the thrust. Bay St. Louis responded in the bottom half of the inning with two outs and scored Dawson McCall and Paul Farve to claim the 8-7 victory.

The winning pitcher was Dawson McCall, who also had three hits. Paul Farve also had two hits for Bay St. Louis.

Game 2: Booneville 8, Bay St. Louis 4

Bay St. Louis seemed to take command of this game, loading the bases with no outs in the top of the first. However, Bay St. Louis only managed one run as the Booneville pitcher recorded two strikeouts.

Booneville scored four runs in the bottom of the second to take a 4-1 lead. Bay St. Louis closed the gap to 4-3, scoring two runs in the top of the 4th. Booneville scored three runs in the bottom of the 4th to take a 7-3 lead.

Bay St. Louis again had a chance in the sixth inning after loading the bases, but could only manage one run as the game ended 8-4.

Dawson McCall and Paul Farve again led Bay St. Louis with two hits each. The losing pitcher was Paul Farve.

Game 3: Bay St. Louis 8, South Pontotoc 2

South Pontotoc took a 2-0 lead after two complete innings before the Bay St. Louis bats came alive in the third inning, pounding out several hits and scoring seven runs to take command of the game.

In the fourth inning, second baseman Brent Richardson made two catches behind first base and put out the third runner by throwing to first baseman, Neil Favre.

Bay St. Louis closed out the scoring with one run in the top of the sixth inning. The winning pitcher was Brandon Lewis.

Leading the Bay 11-hit attack was Dawson McCall and Neil Favre with two hits each. This eliminated South

Pontotoc from the tournament.

Game 4: Bay St. Louis 8, Tupelo West 3

On Sunday morning, Bay St. Louis started the scoring in the first inning when Paul Farve hit a towering two-run home run over the left field fence.

After three innings, Bay St. Louis had a 5-0 lead.

Tupelo threatened by scoring three runs in the top half of the fourth. Bay St. Louis responded in the bottom of the fourth with two runs and scored again in the fifth inning to seal the victory.

Ty Barrett had an excellent game in the pitching department and also made some key defensive plays from the mound.

Paul Farve was intentionally walked twice after his first inning homer, but the next batter, Brandon Lewis, had two hits to help the cause. Once again, lead-off hitter Dawson McCall had two hits. Tupelo West was eliminated with the loss.

Game 5: Bay St. Louis 6, Brandon National League 4

After one complete inning, Bay St. Louis found itself down 2-0 in this Sunday afternoon game. Dawson McCall came in to relieve starting pitcher Paul Farve in the third inning.

The Brandon team was threatening with two runners on and no outs. However, Brandon managed only one run in the third to take a 3-0 lead.

Bay St. Louis tied the score at 3 in the bottom of the third and took the lead in the bottom of the fifth. At this time, the Bay scored three more runs, with Neil Favre hitting a double off the bottom of the center field fence to help lead the attack.

The Brandon team managed to score one more run in the top of the sixth inning to make the final score 6-4.

The winning pitcher was Dawson McCall for Bay St. Louis. Top Bay St. Louis hitters, with two hits each, were Paul Farve, Neil Favre, Zeke Davis and Jason Santiago. Brandon was eliminated with the loss.

Game 6: Bay St. Louis 9, North Jackson 5

On Monday morning, Bay St. Louis found itself tied at 3 after two complete innings. However, in the third inning, Paul Farve's pancake break-fast kicked in as he hit another 225' two-run homer, this time over the center field fence.

Bay St. Louis scored a total of six runs in the third and fourth innings to take a 9-3 lead. North Jackson scored twice in the sixth inning to make the final score 9-5.

Ty Barrett picked up the win in relief of starter Brandon Lewis. Dawson McCall worked the 5th and 6th inning for the save.

Bay St. Louis leading hitters included Paul Farve with three hits, and Dawson McCall and Brent Richardson with two hits each. North Jackson was eliminated with the loss.

Game 7: Bay St. Louis 2, Meridian National 5

On Monday afternoon, Bay St. Louis found itself behind 2-0 after the first inning. The team could not recover this time, due mainly to the pitching of Meridian's Johnny Brewster, who kept the Bay St. Louis hitters off balance with his 63 mile per hour fastball and change-up pitches.

Bay St. Louis managed to score two runs in the third inning, with the score being 5-2 after three innings. This would be as close as Bay St. Louis would get this time, as Brewster gave up only one hit each to Paul Favre and Zeke Davis.

The losing pitcher for Bay St. Louis was Paul Farve. With this loss, the second for Bay St. Louis, the team was eliminated and recorded a 5-2 record and a third place placement.

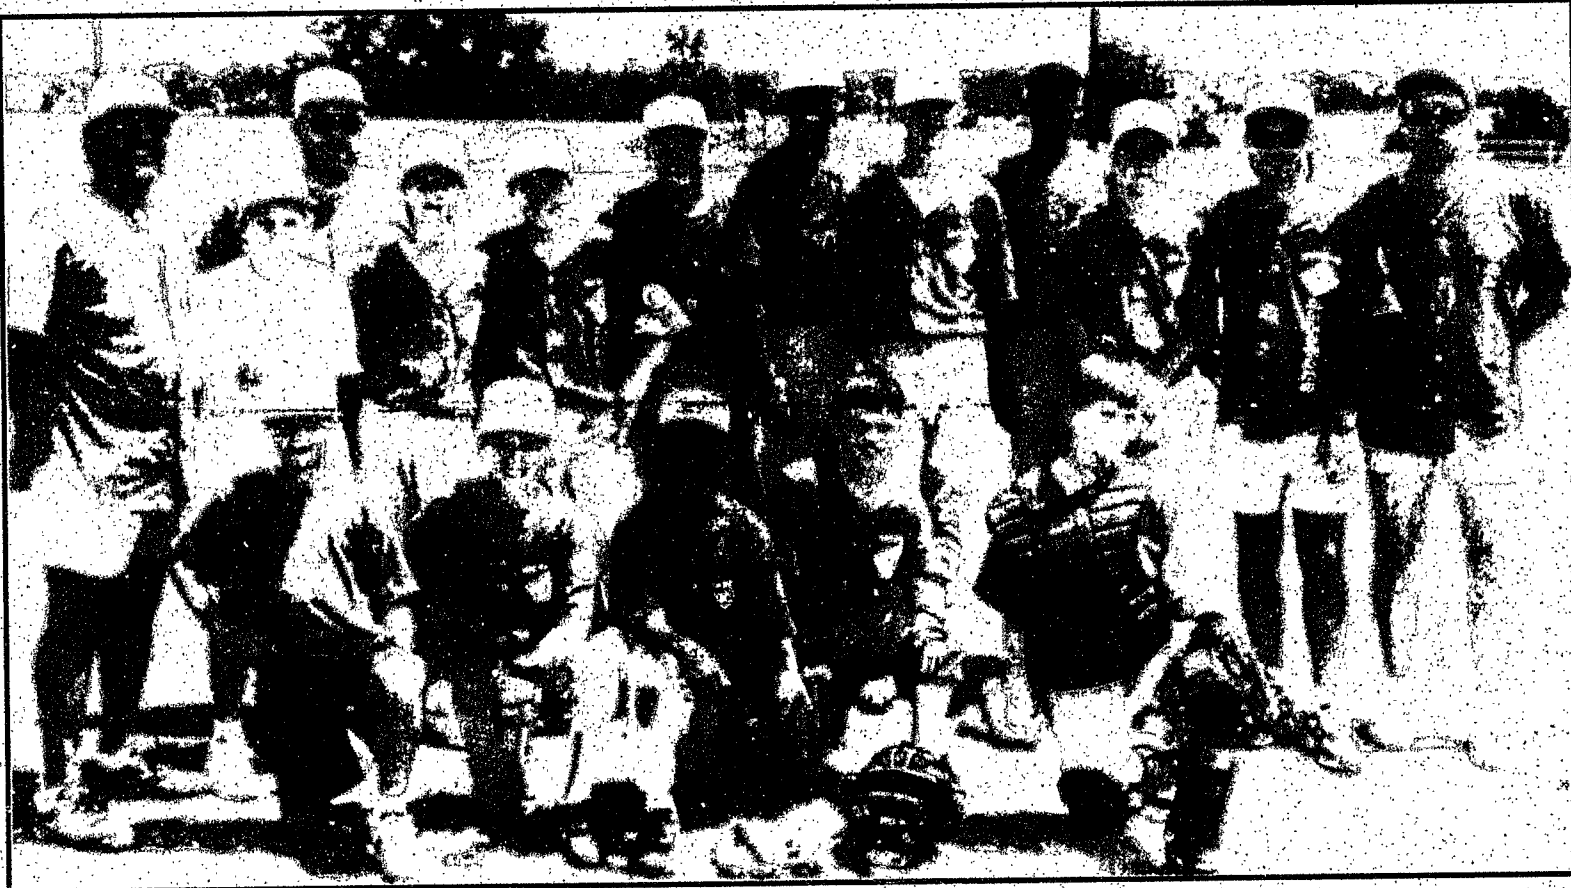

The Meridian National team defeated Booneville Monday evening and Tuesday morning 7-1 to claim the 11-12-year olds state tournament. This team will represent Mississippi in the southeast regionals in Gainesville, Fla.

The Bay St. Louis team fought their way back through a field of 12 teams to claim their third place finish in the state. This was quite an accomplishment as all the other teams represented district winners in such large areas as Tupelo, Jackson and Meridian.

Top hitters for Bay St. Louis were Paul Farve, 632 with two home runs; Dawson McCall, 444; Zeke Davis, 429; Neil Favre, 333; Jason Santiago, 316; Brent Richardson, 292 with seven sacrifice bunts.

Overall defensive stand-outs: first base, Neil Favre; second shortstop, Evan Coote; second/outfield, Brent Richardson third base/catcher, Jason Santiago; outfield d/catcher/pitcher, Dawson McCall.

Team members were Dawson McCall, Brent Richardson, Paul Farve, Brandon Lewis, Neil Favre, Ty Barrett, Zeke Davis, Evan Coote, Jason Santiago, Aaron Dunklin, Chris Flowers, Jordan Bordes and Mike Green. Scorekeeper was Casey Favre, and bat boy was Adam Barrett. Coaches were Dave Richardson, Neil Favre, Richie Santiago and Harry Favre. Mike Favre, league president, also assisted.

MR. MISSISSIPPI

Charles Hawkins wins bodybuilding championship

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

Charles Hawkins, of Bay St. Louis, recently won the Mr. Mississippi Bodybuilding Championships in Jackson.

Hawkins competed in the middleweight open division. He won both his class and the overall competition. He will represent the state of Mississippi in the National Bodybuilding Championships held in Orlando, Fla., Oct. 21-22.

Hawkins is the first person to win the Mr. Mississippi title in three different weight classes.

When asked about his competition Hawkins commented, "I had a good competition. I trained hard and it paid off I will be representing Mississippi in the nationals. If I win my weight class there then I will be given a pro-card. That enables me to compete as a professional. With this national competition, I will be going for the 'Big Time.'"

Charles Hawkins has been competing as a bodybuilder for the past 14 years. He stated that he is 'on the bubble' to becoming a pro with this upcoming competition. Good Luck Charles!

Texas woman hits jackpot

For the second time since Saturday, the Mississippi Nickels progressive slot system hit again on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Rosalinda Esparaza, of San Antonio, Texas, hit the $108,667 plus slot jackpot at the Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis. Esparaza had invested $28 dollars in the wide-area nickel slot progressive when she hit the jackpot.

Esparaza said that she and her husband usually go to Las Vegas, but he wanted to see the Mississippi casinos on this vacation.

"I was standing there looking at this nickel slot machine. I felt like it was calling me. As soon as the lady playing the machine got up, I sat down and started playing," said Esparaza.

"I thought I had won 108,000 nickels when the reels stopped on the jackpot, but my sister said that it was dollars, not nickels," said Esparaza. "I told her that can't be, this is a nickel slot machine."

There are 213 Mississippi nickels slot machines linked together in 16 casinos throughout Mississippi. Other wide-area progressive system games in operation at Mississippi casinos include Megabucks, Quartermania, High Rollers, Fabulous 50's and Pokermania. These progressive games are developed and operated by International Game Technology (IGT)-North America, based in Reno, Nev.

All IGT-North America primary progressive jackpots are paid in annual installments.

Workforce Council

Pearl River College's new District Workforce Council was on hand for the debut of the Community College Network (CCN) Monday at the PRCC Forrest County Center. CCN, which links all 15 community colleges, is the most comprehensive, totally interactive video system in America. The Workforce Council also toured PRCC's Allied Health Center. Workforce members or company representatives include (first row, from left) Freeman Parker, Bill Pittman, Sonny Knight, Clyde Dease, Bobby Cain; (second row) Dwight Dyess, Bill Ray, Bill Martin; (third row) Doug Allen, Terry Brinson, Woody Spiers, Russell Ladner; (fourth row) Bob Occhi, Jimmy Poole, Troy Cain. Not pictured are Milan Hoze and Scott Lemon.

Heavy hitters on PRCC's Workforce Council

Pearl River Community College has lined up some heavy hitters to serve on its District Workforce Council.

Industry and business leaders from PRCC's district of Forrest, Lamar, Marion, Jefferson Davis, Hancock and Pearl River counties have agreed to help formulate an integrated and coordinated district workforce development strategic plan.

PRCC's Workforce Council will help identify workforce needs through job and employee assessments of local business and industry. It will also help set short- and long-term goals for specific industry training and upgrading.

Council members will coordinate and integrate delivery of training and will assist business and industry management in the transition of a high-powered, quality organization.

The state legislature mandated that at least eight members of the District Workforce Council would be chief executive officers or plant managers of significant employers in the district.

The council will work closely with the newly created One-Stop Career Center which is planned for PRCC's Forrest County Center.

Pearl River's One-Stop Career Center will provide assessment, training and placement services to individuals needing retraining, training and upgrading for local industry.

Pearl River's District Workforce Council includes:

Chairman Bobby Chain, CEO of Chain Electric of Hattiesburg; Woody Spiers, president of Pearl River Oil Company and mayor of Picayune; Clyde Dease, technical manager, John C. Stennis Space Center; M. L. "Sonny" Knight, owner of Knight Supply Company of Poplarville; Scott Lemon, personnel services coordinator of Calgon Corporation of Pearl River.

Robert Occhi, executive vice president and general manager of Coast Electric Power Association, Bay St. Louis; Troy Cain, vice president of manufacturing of Sunbeam/Oster of Laurel; Lowery Woodall, executive director of Forrest General Hospital;

Terry Brinson, vice president of human resources for KLI Industries of Prentiss; Douglas Allen, director of Jefferson Davis County Community Development Association of Prentiss;

William A. Pittman, chairman and CEO of Citizens Bank of Columbia; Milan Hoze of Hattiesburg Housing Authority;

Don Martin, city clerk of Columbia; Russell Ladner, mayor of Lumberton;

J. Dwight Dyess, president of the Bank of Mississippi, Hattiesburg Division; and Bill Ray, president and CEO of Methodist Hospital of Hattiesburg.

An ex-officio member is Jimmie Poole, office manager of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission of Hattiesburg.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Okay, fishing buddies, no more messing around. The place to go, if you want to catch fish, is the shoreline between Herron Bay and Bayou Caddy.

The Gator Man is reported to have been murdering the flat fish on a daily basis all along this shoreline. The Turtle has been murdering the fish in the mouth of Three Oaks Bayou.

Reports are coming in, on a steady basis, of the fish being murdered next to the Jubilee Casino on Bayou Caddy. Now, that ought to be enough to keep you happy for a second or two.

The flounders that are being caught along the shoreline are being caught by working the shoreline using an electric motor to cover the shallow areas without spooking the fish. You need to be out just far enough so you can cast your bait close to the grassy shoreline.

But, don't get too close and scare the fish away. The bait that has been most productive is a jig head on which you place a strip of flounder belly. This means you gotta catch a flounder first if you want to use a piece of his belly for bait.

Anyway, cut a strip of his white underside about one inch wide by about three inches long, and place it on the hook of the jig head.

Other flounders think this is just the "cat's meow" as far as gourmet food is concerned. It just flat drives them crazy. Cast your bait toward the shoreline and work it back toward you with a series of jerks and stops.

The mouth of Three Oaks produced quite a few fish this past week on a falling tide. The most productive time was about one hour before sunset till right about dark.

Most of the action was on the west side of the mouth to a distance of about one block off the mouth. Did I mention the best side was the west side?

Well, if I didn't I just did. Anyway, there was a small log in the water right by the point on the side that was the most productive (west). Don't try to catch the log as it is hard to scale or file. Besides, it doesn't taste good. I don't know, maybe a little extra cayenne would work. nah.

A different type of bait is needed at the mouth of Three Oaks. You are gonna need a cast net if you want to have any chance of catching fish in this area.

The specks, reds, and founders are feeding on live mullet about two to three inches long. As the Turtle has said, bunches of times in the past, "you gotta give 'em what they want." This week they want small live mullet. Next week, who knows, maybe ribeyes.

Before I get away from the Three Oaks area, I need to say it was quite a spectacular sight this past week. On one afternoon the founders were jumping out of the water chasing supper. The next afternoon the specks looked like bullets coming out of the water after the bait fish. It was out-of-sight.

Several fishermen report catching some flounders that went two and three pounds a piece. It seems all the rolling bones down by the Jubilee Casino are still making the fish hungry.

The flounders were caught by wade fishermen using beetles bounced off of the bottom on a slow retrieve. The best time for the Casino flounder action was between 4 p.m. and dark.

Do have to say that the fishing is still fast and furious under the lights of the Jubilee during the early morning hours.

That is, of course, if you can get up at 3 a.m. Yech!

While I am on the subject of night casino fishing, I have to pass on to the fishing buddies a report I received from Dr. McIlwain of the Gulf Coast Research Institute.

He reports one of his employees caught seven speckled trout that weighed a total of 35 pounds, under the lights at the Palace Casino in Biloxi.

Man, that's an average of five pounds per fish. He, with a straight face, claimed that all of the fish were "keepers." It is important to note that this guy has a PhD in marine biology and probably is the most respected expert on fish on the Gulf Coast.

Looks like those nay-sayers who claimed the casinos would ruin the fishing were dead wrong.

For the Kawaw-Bunga spear-chucking crowd, the flat fish have been in the shallow waters along the beach at night just waiting for you to come and get them. All you need is your trusty light and your spear to have a late-night snack of flounder.

This week's wonderful wise words: The best fishing has been during the cooler times of the evening and night.

Do you think meat tenderizer will work on file of log, Turtle?

Report on DMR meeting

BY JIM MANESS

The Department of Marine Resources held its monthly meeting at 9 a.m. July 18 in its headquarters, located in the Edgewater Mall in Biloxi.

Present were Douglas Horn, Oliver Sahuque, Sherman Muth Jr. and Rusty David. Absent were William Mitchell and Vernon Asper.

Some of the items discussed were the opening of private oyster leases to harvesting during the summer months. Tom Van Devender reported there were three reported cases of Vibrio.

Two cases were attributed to handling the oysters, and one to the consumption of oysters. He stated this was a reason not to open summer harvest of oysters to private lease holders.

Dr. Ladner and Dr. McMillan stated the growth of the bacteria would be stopped or greatly diminished if refrigeration were to be used. It was reported Louisiana allows the harvest of oysters 12 months of the year.

Jerry Mitchell gave an update of the Clean Vessel Act. He was expecting some money from the Wallop Breaux Fund to build and maintain toilet dumping facilities at marinas located on the Coast.

There are currently 41 Coast marinas to serve 40,950 registered boats. Mitchell stated Jackson is expecting the registration of an additional 10,000 boats this year alone.

Terry Baker, of Enforcement, reported 63% of law enforcement time is currently being spent catching and relocating problem alligators. The average alligator that had to be removed has been about 10 to 14 feet. He suggested a limited hunting season on alligators should be helpful in the control of the overpopulation of alligators along the Coast.

A motion was suggested by chairman Muth that the names of all fishing law violators be made public once a month. This was to include both commercial and recreational violators.

Commissioner Lee suggested the public would be astonished at the number of illegal red fish sold out of Mississippi last year.

He said he thinks there were in excess of 500,000 pounds of red fish caught and sold out of Mississippi waters last year. The quota is 35,000 pounds.

Lee said he knew of two sting operations; one found 137,000 pounds of illegal red fish, the other found 82,000 pounds of illegal red fish.

It was reported $158,000 was received from the sale of salt water recreational fishing licenses in 1993-94.

An ordinance was adopted on an emergency basis, ordinance No. 15,000, which gives aggrieved parties a process by which they may obtain a rehearing. This applies to casinos requesting permits.

The last item on the agenda was the budget for 1995. The budget was presented by interim director Joe Gill. Of the approximately $3,117,195 budget there was a projected expenditure of $2.5 million that was questioned extensively by the commission members, especially Commissioner Rusty David.

They wanted to know how the $2.5 million was to be spent. That is, how much was to go to each line item. No percentage of line item amount breakdown was given. But, Gill assured the commission they could move the money around as they needed.

The balance of the budget was for items such as payroll, rent and capital items. The budget for 1995 was approved by the commissioners by an unanimous voice vote.

The next meeting was set for the third Monday in August at the DMR Building.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

It's happened to most of us along our Coast, especially in the good old summer time; after a busy day away from the house or working in the yard or whatever, you've planned a simple "pickup" supper, perhaps just a quick sandwich.

Then comes the cheery phone call, perhaps from friends en route to or from somewhere or other, just stopping to call you; or the ringing doorbell, announcing friends just stopping by to say "Hi."

You're glad to hear from them, glad to see them, and want to ask them to supper. But, what on earth will you feed them on such short notice?

That's when my emergency or "quick stop menus" come into play. For instance, a few days ago I was contentedly "mucking about" in what passes for my garden, trying to repair damages from the heavy rainstorms, when a car turned into the driveway, and a couple of friends rushed to greet me. They were on their way home to New Orleans from a stay in Florida.

CHICKEN AND HAM CASSEROLE

1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms (or bottled or canned if fresh unavailable) sliced
1/4 cup chopped onion

Glad as I was to see them, I was also scurrying about in my mind for a supper choice. Since such occasions crop up regularly, I've set up a system (or as close to a system as I ever get) for dealing with them.

For example, when I cook a chicken, I reserve a package or so of leftovers for the freezer, ready for just such times. I also keep a package or so of sauteed chicken breasts on hand in the freezer. I also cook rice in quantity, "stashing" containers in fridge and freezer. Salad "makings" and various fresh vegetables are usually on hand in the fridge, so there was really no reason to panic.

On a recent such occasion, I settled for one of my long-time favorites, a dish well suited to casual entertaining, as well as to a buffet supper or festive luncheon or brunch:

6 Tbsp. butter or margarine, divided
3 Tbsp. flour
Pepper, salt as desired
1 cup light cream or half-and-half
Splash (2 or 3 Tbsp.) dry sherry, optional
2 cups cubed cooked chicken
1 cup cubed cooked ham
1 (5 oz. can) water chestnuts, drained and sliced, optional
1/2 cup grated Swiss cheese
1 1/4 cups fresh and soft bread crumbs

Grease a baking dish (1 1/2 qt. size) and set aside. Melt 3 Tbsp. of the butter or margarine in a large skillet over medium heat and saute the onion and mushrooms. Stir in the flour and pepper and salt. Add the cream and sherry and cook, stirring, until thickened.

Add the chicken and ham, along with the water chestnuts.

Mix well and pour into the baking dish, topping with the Swiss cheese.

Melt the remaining butter or margarine in a small pan, and toss the bread crumbs with the butter, then sprinkle on the casserole. Bake at 375° for 25 minutes until browned. (6 servings)

If water chestnuts aren't on hand, simply omit, or substitute sliced ripe olives. I often make this dish with evaporated milk in place of the cream, and use a butter flavored non-stick spray in place of the butter or margarine. (Copyright 1994, Katharine D. M. Caire)

DOWN HOME

On thrift

By Dorian D. Rogers
Extension Home Economist
Some of my fondest and most unforgettable memories of childhood are good Christmases at my Grandmother Mills' house.

She and my grandfather had nine girls and one boy (poor Bob); all but three of these had children also. At that time the number was up to 35.

It never ceased to amaze me how my grandmother could afford the large, lavish Christmases that she provided for us. Her living room floor would be stacked four feet high with presents, and they almost filled the room.

It was such a sight to see! It was not until years later that I learned from family members her secrets for the splendid event.

My grandmother started early with her planning and buying. She would start in January, right after Christmas, buying for the next year's event. Every person would receive three or four presents that were special just to that person.

My grandmother and grandfather were not rich by any means. They lived on a small farm that provided most of their food. My grandfather was a barber with a meager income. (Also he was a little on the tight side).

But my grandmother loved Christmas, and she wanted her children and grandchildren to receive many special presents from her.

She was a very industrious little lady. At one time I could count her working at six or seven odd jobs. She sewed for the public, sold Christmas cards, eggs, milk, fashions and makeup; she worked part-time as telephone operator and at times worked at the garment plant in Leakesville.

She did all of this so that her family could celebrate Christmas in a good way.

We could all benefit from examples set by our parents and grandparents. So many of them suffered through the depression. As they recovered from this hardship, thrift became a way of life for them. Thrift is an unfamiliar term in the 1990's for most people.

When one speaks of thrift, we think of doing without or deprivation. No one wants to wait or do without until the money is available. So, we find ourselves living above our means, providing children with an affluent childhood, and using plastic credit cards as money.

Statistics show that many people suffer depression right after the holiday season. It takes months and even years to pay for Christmas expenses. Also, many women are exhausted from the shopping and hectic pace of the holidays.

So what are we doing wrong in the 90's? Maybe we should practice what my grandmother did. Start now by making a list and start buying, making, or producing our gifts for Christmas.

By starting early, you can take advantage of sales, discount/wholesale stores, and catalogue shopping.

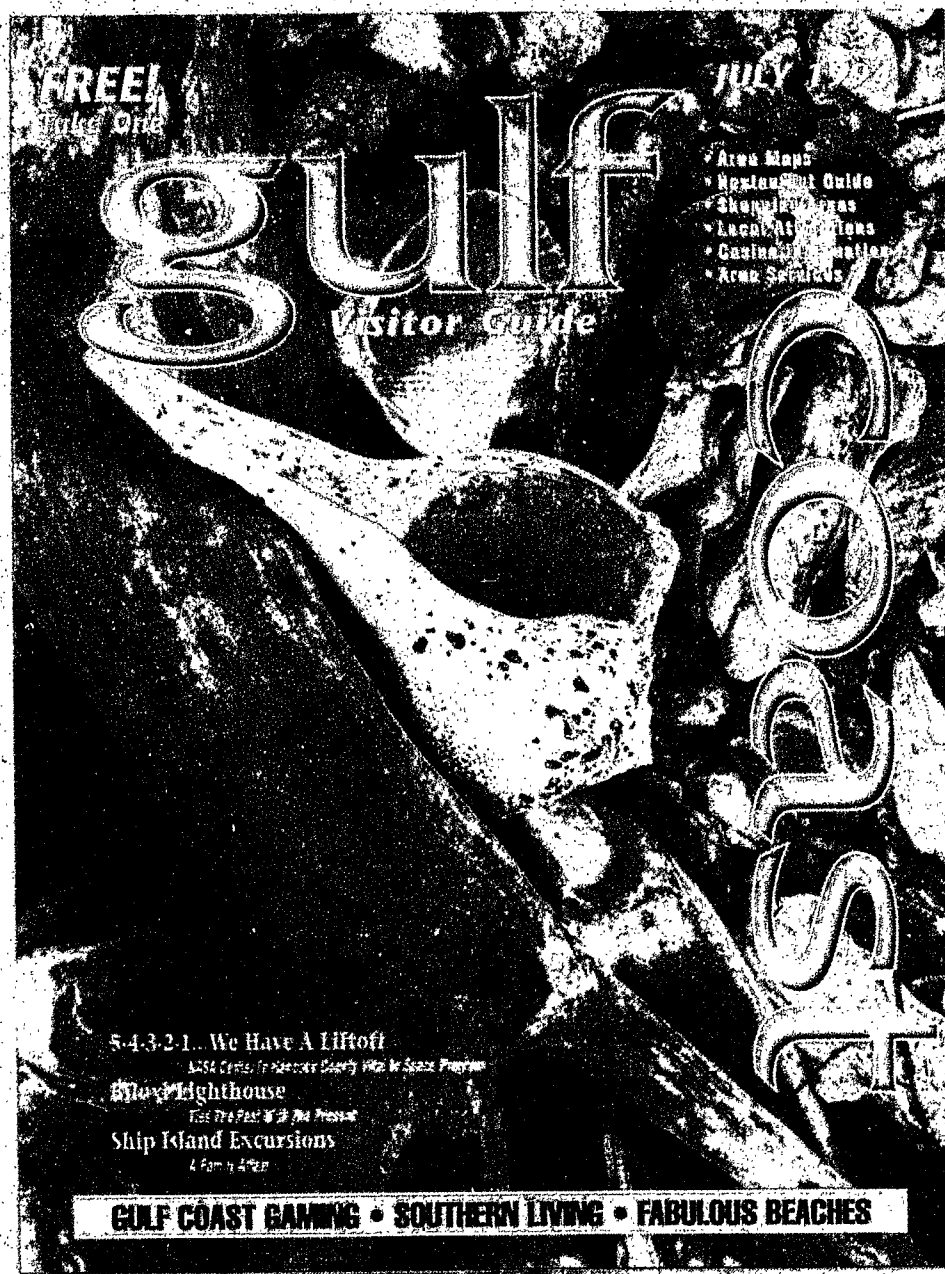

If you enjoy canning, now is the time to make wonderful jams and jellies for special people on your list. Start plants for friends who enjoy gardening or receiving plants.

If you take the time to think about the person and keep in mind their likes, you'll be able to shop around and come up with the perfect gift, which brings joy not only to the receiver but the giver, which is what Christmas is all about.

THE SEA COAST ECHO - THURSDAY, JULY 28, 1994

Gold J's reunite Coach Elaine Colson honored

Special to the Echo
They affectionately called her the Old Lady," though at the time she was almost 20 years younger than most of them are now.

Members of the SJA Gold J basketball teams of 1957-1964 gathered in Bay St. Louis recently to honor Elaine Colson, coach and physical education director at St. Joseph Academy for more than 10 years. Almost 40 members of the seven varsity Gold J teams coached by Mrs. Colson were in attendance.

An SJA-ian herself (Class of '42), Mrs. Colson played guard with such ability, she was chosen captain of her team. Still involved today at the heart of community activities, she continues to live up to a description of her in the Academy's '57 Sea Sprite, "packed with energy."

In the years she coached, girls played half court, but with opponents like Bay High, Dedeaux, Kiln and Pass High, the games were always a challenge.

After closing another winning season in 1961, Mrs. Colson herself summarized what each member of the team at the reunion felt about her Gold J experience: "All the Gold J's goals are high, because the higher we aim, the higher we hit."

"Every brick of the Academy may have disappeared now, but the positive, strong influence of the 'Old Lady,' and others like her at the school lives on in us and in our children," commented Frankie Matherne Cagle, whose mother Catherine never missed a varsity game.

"Every day I'm thankful that Mrs. Colson and the Academy were a part of my life," adds Jackie Kingston Kidd.

"SJA was a very special place. Everyone really cared about one another; look at how so many came back for this reunion after so many years."

"We were always challenged to do better. I think it was a deep sense of being loved that always made us want to work harder. To me, Mrs. Colson epitomizes those values and spirit of St. Joseph Academy."

Gold J's and team moderators in attendance included: Margo Jacobi Murphy, Peggy Kergosien Rowley, Eran Artigues Schleis, Vonnice Artigues Williams, Faye Monti;

Ursula Favre Penton, Mary Jo Krieger, Liz Krieger Miranne, Frankie Matherne Cagle

Elizabeth Seles, Ann Gottschalk Bobinger, Sheila Gottschalk Black, Sheila Sturdivant McCarthy, Bonita French Favre;

Janie Ferry Smolensky, Cassie Rhodes Babin, Suzie Rhodes Lee, Barbara Kidd Rigby, Jackie Kingston Kidd, Oopie Morrison;

Jo Pepper Morrison Tuepker, Beth Murtagh Goellner, Judy Favre Cooksey, Ellen Colson Breath, Celeste Chevis Proulx, Linda Auderer Kidd, Pat Morreale Garriga, Patty Babin Seward, Marlene Morel Lancaster;

Beth Colson Ducrest, Adrienne Carmenta, Elaine Colson, and Sisters Ursula and Jean, CSJ.

Gold J's 1959-1960 assembled on the front steps of St. Joseph Academy and as they reunite 35 years later.

Remembering their victorious 1958-1959 season are the Gold J's, beginning with bottom left, Celeste Chevis Proulx, Pat Morreale Garriga, Sheila Sturdivant McCarthy, Frankie Matherne Cagle, Sheila Gottschalk Black, Liz Krieger Miranne, Eran Artigues Schleis, Judy Favre Cooksey, Margo Jacobi Murphy and Mary Jo Krieger.

Fifteen members of the 1961-1962 Gold J's reunite. First row, left, Cassie Rhodes Babin, Mary Jo Krieger, Judy Favre Cooksey, Bonita French Favre, Margo Jacobi Murphy, Rannie Artigues Schleis, Ursula Favre Penton, Vonnice Artigues Williams, Faye Monti, Ellen Colson Breath, Susie Rhodes Lee, Oopie Morrison, Beth Murtagh Goellner, Janie Ferry Smolensky and Elizabeth Seles.

St. Joseph Academy Gold J team members, 1957-1964, with their coach, Elaine Colson, and team moderators, Adrienne Carmenta and sisters Jean and Ursula, C.S.J.

Berry, a neighborhood resident, hit the jackpot after an investment of less than $40.

Berry said, "I was on one machine when a lady got up and said that I like to play it, so I went over and started playing it. As soon as I hit the jackpot, I let out a blood-curdling scream. I think everyone in the casino probably heard me."

Berry plans to use part of her winnings to pay for a much-needed eye operation for her five-year-old Pomeranian, Goober Woobie.

Paula Berry was a big winner at Gold Coast. Congratulating her is a friend, Alton Pittman of Columbia.

MILITARY MENTIONS

SPEC SEYLER
Army Spec. Ginger E. Seyler has arrived for duty in Fort Ritchie, Cascade, Md.

Seyler, an administrative specialist, is the daughter of Jerry M. and Louly A. Peterson of Bay St. Louis.

Her husband, Jeffrey, is the son of Albert Seyler of Pocomantas, Ark.

She is a 1989 graduate of Hancock High School.

SPEC SWANIER

Army Spec. Nyoka L. Swanier has arrived for duty in Yongsan Garrison, Seoul, South Korea.

Swanier, an administration specialist, is the daughter of Dorothy L. Swanier and Daniel J. Swanier, both of Pass Christian.

She is a 1990 graduate of Pass Christian High School.

PVT FLORES

Marine Pvt. Juan Flores, of Bay St. Louis, recently completed recruit training.

During the training cycle at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C., recruits are taught the basics of battlefield survival, introduced to typical military daily routine, and personal and professional standards.

All recruits participate in an active physical conditioning program and gain proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close-order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline are emphasized throughout the cycle.

Pvt. Flores is the son of Dora L. Gonzales of Bay St. Louis.

LT WHEAT

Navy Lt. Steven P. Wheat, a 1976 graduate of Bay High School, recently participated in joint/combined exercise RIMPAC '94 aboard the aircraft carrier USS Independence, forward deployed to Yokosuka, Japan.

An acronym meaning Rim of the Pacific, RIMPAC teamed the U.S. with four Pacific nations, Australia, Canada, Japan and the Republic of Korea, for a major maritime exercise near Hawaii.

The exercise involved more than 50 ships, 200 aircraft and 25,000 sailors, airmen, Marines, soldiers and Coast Guardsmen. Multinational exercises like RIMPAC enable naval forces from different countries to improve their ability to operate together.

Wheat is one of more than 3,500 crewmen aboard the aircraft carrier which is capable of carrying 75 aircraft.

He joined the Navy in January 1984. Wheat is a 1981 graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg with a BS degree.

Summer gas prices rise

The average prices for all grades of gasoline have risen across the state, according to the gas price survey released by AAA Mississippi.

The statewide average price for regular unleaded gasoline rose 1.8 cents to $1.073 per gallon. Mid-grade unleaded increases 2.1 cents to $1.170 per gallon, and premium unleaded jumped 2.3 cents to $1.267 per gallon.

"The increase in oil prices worldwide and the typical increase in summertime gasoline demand have led to the rise in gasoline prices across Mississippi," said Danon Jones, director of Public and Government Relations for AAA Mississippi.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

There's so much more to the avocado beyond guacamole, delicious as that dip is, and many more ways to enjoy the avocado beyond an avocado half on a bed of lettuce.

If you've enjoyed this ages-old delight only as a dip or salad, you've missed tasty treats, almost round the clock. The avocado has been around for a long time, but it is only in comparatively recent times that many cooks in our country have made fuller use of it.

The Spanish Conquistadores pronounced the avocado "food for the gods." It was Hernando Cortez, the intrepid Spanish soldier of fortune, who was the first white man to set foot in Mexico City, in 1519, so records tell us. It was at that time also that he discovered that versatile fruit of the New World, the avocado.

The conquistador's historian, Oveido, described the avocado in these words: "In the center of the fruit is a seed like a peeled chestnut. And between this and the rind is the part which is eaten, which is abundant and is a paste similar to butter and of very good taste." That holds true today.

In Central and South American countries the avocado is known as the poor man's butter; and indeed, the ripe avocado, the consistency of fresh, cold butter, is heavenly spread on bread or toast.

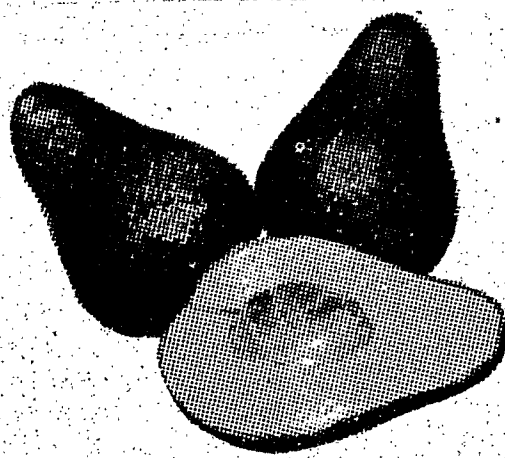

An unripe avocado, in contrast, is tasteless. To check, press the avocado between your hands; it should "give" a little. If it doesn't, let it ripen for a day or two at room temperature.

Avocados are tasty, diced and added to scrambled eggs or an omelet for breakfast or brunch. Avocado halves are good containers for shrimp or chicken salad, for example, or for hot dishes such as creamed chicken or ham.

Like chilled avocado soup, as well as avocado and orange and onion salad. I also like to serve chili in avocado cups, enjoying the taste contrast of the fiery chili and the smooth and creamy avocado. Try it!

Avocado desserts are among my favorites, as in:

There's more to avocado than guacamole or salad

AVOCADO CREAM
2 large ripe avocados, pared
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup heavy cream
3 Tbsp. lime juice
1/4 tsp. salt

Puree the avocado in blender or processor or whatever. Transfer the puree to a bowl, and blend in the sugar, two tablespoonfuls at a time. Add the cream, lime juice and salt. Divide among 4 parfait or other glasses. Chill for 5 hours or more. (4 servings) I also like:

AVOCADO WHIP
2 large ripe avocados
1/2 cup confectioner's sugar
2 Tbsp. lime juice
Cut the avocados in half lengthwise and remove pulp very carefully, keeping skins intact and reserving the skins. Mash the pulp smooth, beating in sugar and lime juice well. Spoon back into skins and chill well. (4 servings)

And, on the healthful side, the avocado contains no cholesterol and the "good" sort of fat, mostly unsaturated. What more can you ask?

Well — there's the bonus of a handsome plant or even tree! The classic method: suspend the seed or pit, broad end down, in a jar or glass of water (using toothpicks) until it "sprouts," then plant it.

Or plant it in earth right away, with half of the "pointy" end exposed. And, enjoy.

Board members attend conference

Cheryl Bennett and Carol Bustetter, both members of the Hancock County Board of Education, joined more than 375 school board members and superintendents attending the National School Boards Association (NSBA)/Southern Region Conference July 13-16 in Mobile, Ala., hosted by the Alabama Association of School Boards.

Focusing on successful methods of improving school governance, the conference included presentations by national and state educators. NSBA president Boyd W. Boehlje and executive director Dr. Thomas A. Shannon reviewed the implications of federal education issues for school leaders, and state leaders discussed relevant education topics.

Keynote speaker and attorney Dr. Patricia Russell-McCloud, a presenter to corporations, school systems and community organizations throughout the United States, Caribbean and West Africa, challenged school board members to be visionary leaders.

Birmingham attorney and recognized school law expert Donald B. Sweeney discussed ways school boards should address sexual harassment in one of eight clinic sessions offered on a variety of education issues.

Clinics covered school violence; student drug abuse; sports equality; classroom technology; conflict management; school prayer and building student character through discipline.

The NSBA/Southern Region is comprised of school board members in 12 states, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia.

The organization advises NSBA on interests of the region. NSBA represents the nation's school board members and comprises state associations, the Hawaii state Board of Education and the boards of education in the District of Columbia, the U.S. Virgin Islands and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

AASB serves as the official voice of Alabama's school boards. The organization provides boardmanship training and strives to improve local lay governance and educational opportunities for public school students.

Foundation exceeds goal

Pearl River Community College's Development Foundation has exceeded its 1994 goal of $200,000.

Executive director Donna Wilson said the foundation received $4,000 in donations on Thursday, June 30, the last day of the fiscal year, to push the total to $205,000.

"We're elated," Wilson said. "It was a tremendous year of support."

The PRCC foundation has raised nearly $1.6 million from private sources during its first seven years of operation, including $1.1 million in cash and $450,000 in land donations.

"In addition to the cash, there have been literally hundreds of individuals who have donated their time and effort to the foundation and the college," said Doug Mooney, foundation chair.

"It's great to see so many people working successfully toward such a worthwhile cause," he said.

Much of the money raised goes to student scholarships and teacher enhancement grants for additional equipment and supplies.

"I know the scholarships make a difference," Moody said. "I've talked with many of the student recipients. They have shared their stories and expressed their gratitude."

The foundation has awarded $49,480 in scholarships and $68,595 in teacher grants over seven years. During the 1993-94 school year, foundation awards totalled $11,475 for scholarships and $13,423 in teacher grants.

Foundation officers include Mooney of Picayune, vice chair Jeanette Crain of Columbia, and secretary/treasurer Homer Moody of Poplarville. An 18-member board of directors representing the six counties in PRCC's district governs the foundations. Some board members serve as out-of-state at-large directors.

The foundation contains five levels of giving for individuals and organizations:

- Magic Makers, yearly donations of $10,000 or more, or $1,000 annually over 10 years;
- River Navigators, minimum annual donations of $1,000 but less than $10,000;
- Gold Explorers, minimum yearly contributions of $500;
- Maroon Voyagers, annual donations of at least $100 but less than $500;
- Pearl Discoverers, minimum donations of $10 but less than $100 each year.

Contributions may be made in cash, check or by credit card. Donors may designate their contributions for unrestricted use or for specific purposes.

Smolensky, a young leader

Sen. J. Bennett and a junior member of the National Young Leaders Conference in Washington, D.C.

The National Young Leaders Conference is a unique leadership development program for high school students who have demonstrated leadership potential and scholastic merit.

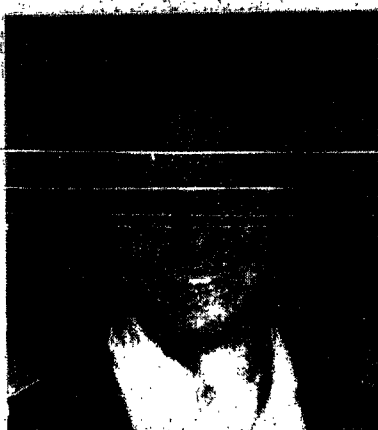

Highlights of the program include welcoming remarks from the floor of the United States House of Representatives and a panel discussion with prominent journalists at the National Press Club.

Delegates will visit foreign embassies and receive policy briefings from senior government officials. Students may also meet with Senator Thad Cochran, Senator Trent Lott and Representative Gene Taylor for an appointed member of their staff to discuss important issues facing Waveland and the nation.

Smolensky is a member of the Gulf Coast Shotokan Karate Club. She participated in the National Karate Tournament held in Chicago and qualified to attend the XXVIII Junior Olympics held this year. She is a student pilot and a member of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

At Our Lady Academy, she is vice president of the junior class. She is a member of the OLA soccer, track and cross-country teams. She is also a member of the OLA/SSC sailing club, an active member of Crescent City Athletic Association, National Junior Honor Society, JETS, the French Honor Society, and she is an alpha honor roll student.

Sara Smolensky

Smolensky placed second in the OLA/SSC science fair. She has received the Pepsi Student of the Year award for the past two years.

Upon graduation, she plans to attend the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado.

PRCC to transfer Columbia class

Pearl River Community College will transfer its Columbia practical nursing class to the Poplarville campus this fall.

PRCC's board approved the move at the regular July meeting held Tuesday at the college's Forrest County Center.

Dr. James Sones, dean of vocational-technical education, said the move will allow better program supervision, and it gives the students access to a total college environment.

Sones said the State Department of Education has mandated a one teacher to 10 student ratio. The move will combine the Marion County class with the practical nursing class now on the college's main campus.

"We can now use the team teaching concept," said Sones. "We will also have closer supervision of the program." PRCC moved its Peacayune class, formerly the Hancock County class, to Poplarville in December 1993.

The classroom and laboratory for the Columbia program will be located on the top floor of the Shivers Gymnasium.

Pearl River will continue to operate a practical nursing program at its Forrest County Center in Hattiesburg. There are three teachers and 30 students at the Hattiesburg campus.

Sones said he has the same number of practical nursing instructors, but the number of slots will drop because of state regulations allowing only 10 students per teacher.

"We had no choice," said Sones. "We were told to stop taking 15 each year. Ten is the total per teacher."

Pearl River also houses its associate degree nursing program at the Poplarville campus.

Keep parents' liquor off limits to friends

By Dr. Ann Jarratt
4-H Youth Development Specialist
Cooperative Extension Service

"My folks have a liquor cabinet at home, and some of my friends keep after me to sneak out booze to them. I'm scared my parents would figure it out, and I'd be in big trouble. My friends say they would never know the difference, but it would be just my luck that they would."

"I don't want to get on the bad side of my parents, but I don't like for my friends to call me a wimp and killjoy because I won't get the liquor for them. How can I please them all?"

You can't please both your parents and your friends when one wants you to do something that's forbidden by the other. One thing you may not have thought about is that if you do what your friends are asking you will be breaking the law.

Anyone who buys or provides alcohol or other drugs to persons under 21 is liable for prosecution. You would be doing more than breaking your parent's rule; you would be breaking the law.

It sounds as if you haven't clearly explained your stand on the issue to your friends. They seem to think if they keep nagging you will soften and get the liquor for them.

TEEN TALK

Tell them in a clear, strong voice that you ARE NOT going to sneak liquor out of the house because it would get you in hot water with your parents and in worse trouble with the legal authorities.

If they argue the point, simply keep repeating that you ARE NOT going to do it. Don't make further explanations or excuses. If they don't get the message then, I suggest you find somewhere else to be rather than with them.

Don't forget that if they bully someone else into getting alcohol for them, get caught and you're with them, you'll be blamed too.

Worse than that is if you're riding with them when the driver has been drinking, you may wind up just as dead as if you had been the one drinking and driving.

"I borrowed some money from a friend. We didn't have any kind of agreement about when I would pay it back. It has been several months since I got it and he hasn't brought it up. I know he has enough that he doesn't need it back as much as I need to keep it. What should I do?"

Pay it back. If you can't pay it back all at once, pay some back every week. Keep at it until you've paid every cent back.

You'll feel a lot better about yourself if you do what you know is right. The fact that you think you need it more than he does is besides the point.

How would you feel if the situation were reversed and you loaned (to lend means you expect it back; to give means no payback) someone something. I'd bet you would expect repayment.

Build a reputation of trust and honesty. You'll like yourself a lot better.

Safeguard pets from heatstroke

By Dr. Wynn Jones
Veterinarian
MSU College of Veterinary Medicine

"A few days ago I went to the supermarket to do my weekly shopping. It was mid-afternoon, the hottest part of the day. As I walked through the parking lot, I heard a dog whimpering and saw the poor animal locked in a car. One window was partially open, but it was 96 degrees outside and even hotter in the car."

"Having two dogs myself, I knew the severity of this situation. I tried to locate the owners in the supermarket and had no luck. I purchased a bottle of water and helped the dog to drink it. Finally, the owner emerged from a nearby store."

"I explained to the owner how a dog can suffer heatstroke and even die in such situations. What are the signs of heatstroke and how can people protect their pets during the hot days of summer?"

A dog never should be kept inside a car during such extreme temperatures as we have experienced lately. Even leaving the window partially open cannot compensate for the amount of heat generated inside a car.

Pet owners who leave their dog outdoors also need to safeguard their pets against heatstroke.

Unlike people, dogs do not perspire. Their body temperature is regulated through panting. But if left in an unshaded yard for very long, a dog's body temperature can rise very rapidly, causing heatstroke.

Symptoms of heatstroke include panting profusely, severe distress and an elevated body temperature. The dog even may collapse.

An animal found in this state should be brought into a cool place immediately and given water to combat dehydration. A cold bath or a gentle spray from the garden hose also will help to bring its temperature within a normal range. More serious cases require veterinary attention.

If you must leave your pet outside during the hot summer months, supply plenty of shade and fresh water. Some dogs even may enjoy a dip in a wading pool.

Not only do dogs need shade to keep cool, but overexposure to the sun can cause sunburn, especially in short-haired dogs or dogs with white or light coats. Ears and noses also can be sensitive. Severe sunburn can lead to solar dermatitis and even cancer, so be sure to protect your pet.

***
If you have questions concerning a pet's health, write Dr. Wynn Jones, MSU/CVM, Box 9825, Mississippi State, MS 39762.

Use caution to stop dog fights

By Dr. Wynn Jones
Veterinarian
MSU College of Veterinary Medicine

"We have a 5-year-old male German shepherd who has been a terrific pet. Recently we moved into a neighborhood that has a bully — another dog who thinks he's the boss.

"This dog often runs free and I am concerned about the possibility of a dog fight. What is the best way to separate fighting dogs?"

The best approach is prevention. Ask the owner of the other dog to keep him on a leash or confined to his own yard. Unfortunately, not all pet owners take adequate responsibility for their pets.

If a fight occurs, remember to stay calm and act quickly and decisively. Decide what action will effectively separate the dogs without causing injury to yourself. This depends a great deal on the size and strength of the dogs.

In the case of two large and strong dogs, you may need to let the dogs settle the dispute between themselves and hope for the best.

Most male dogs rarely fight to the death and tend to stop shortly after one dog indicates submission to the other. Fights between females often are more severe and damaging.

Throwing water over the dogs is another way to stop a fight. Using a strong spray from the garden hose may work.

Smaller dogs can be grabbed by the scruff of the neck, but be careful not to get bitten. The important element is time — the faster you can put a fight to an end, the less damaging it is likely to be.

Dog fights can result in just a few scratches to severe injuries. Bite wounds usually are contaminated with large quantities of oral bacteria and are prone to infection.

Flush these wounds with clean water and contact your veterinarian as soon as possible. Left untreated, the wounds can become infected and abscessed.

"I have a boxer who has an underbite and some crooked teeth. Is it true that orthodontic treatment is available for dogs?"

Orthodontic treatment is available and certainly is an option for some pet owners to consider. The primary reason for orthodontics is to enhance function and prevent disease for dogs.

Poorly aligned teeth can traumatically impact the soft tissue in the mouth, causing damage and discomfort. Malaligned teeth are less self-clearing and accumulate more debris and experience more disease as the animal ages.

Most orthodontic treatment consists of a combination of techniques, including arch wires, brackets, elastics and palatal expanders.

One note on your boxer's underbite — the boxer is normally undershot, meaning the lower jaw protrudes beyond the upper jaw and curves slightly upward. An exaggeration of this may or may not be a problem. Consult your veterinarian for more information.

If you have questions concerning a pet's health, write Dr. Wynn Jones, MSU/CVM, Box 9825, Mississippi State, MS 39762.

Strickland will perform in horse show

Jessica Marie Strickland, 14, daughter of Jimmy and Mary Ann Strickland of Diamondhead, will represent Harrison County in the 1994 Regional 4-H Horse Championships in Oklahoma City, Okla. Aug. 6-9.

Strickland, who is a member of the Magic 10 4-H Club, will perform in western pleasure, showmanship, horsemanship, hunter saddle and hunter seat equitation.

She will also compete in the public speaking contest at regional. She placed second in the state at the State 4-H Horse Show held recently in Jackson. Anyone interested in joining 4-H or a 4-H horse club may contact Sheran Watkins at 865-4227.

CONSUMER UPDATE

Divorce and money

By Jan Lukens, MBA, CFP
Consumer Money
Management Specialist

The emotional consequences of divorce are what we expect. The financial consequences are seldom fully anticipated. Standards of living decrease, at least temporarily, after a divorce. Though many divorcees fail to foresee this, it is inevitable that the income and assets supporting one household cannot support two households in the same style.

To minimize the monetary pain, a divorce requires financial planning. Questions about taxes, pensions, credit and insurance must also be answered before a new financial status can be established.

Knowing what you can expect of a divorce settlement can help the planning process. The traditional form of financial settlement used to be alimony. Though alimony may still be awarded in some cases, it is typically only where one spouse cannot support himself or herself.

Today, alimony is being replaced by distribution of marital assets. In most states including Mississippi, the common method of dividing property is equitable distribution.

This should not be confused with equal distribution.

Each party's share is determined by the court based upon a variety of criteria. Both financial and nonfinancial contributions of the marriage are considered. In community property states, such as Louisiana, assets are divided evenly as each spouse is considered to have a vested 50% interest in all marital property.

The status of insurance policies should be addressed before the divorce settlement is finalized. Insurers should be notified. Types and amounts of insurance as well as beneficiaries may need changes.

If a lump-sum settlement without spousal maintenance is chosen, beneficiaries may need to be changed. If life insurance is needed to replace alimony or child support from the payor, the recipient need to receive periodic information on the policy from the insurance company. A clause should be included in the divorce agreement giving the recipient spouse this right.

Who should own life insurance policies after the divorce? The answer may vary depending upon your situation. The insured person may give the policy to the ex-spouse. When this happens, the insured gives up all rights to the policy, including any accumulated cash value. This is true even if the spouse remarries and no longer receives the alimony the policy may have been intended to replace.

The spouse receiving support can buy a policy on the ex-spouse's life. If this route is chosen, the divorce decree should indicate that the insured will comply with the insurance company's requirements for coverage. For instance, the insured may need to agree to a physical exam if additional insurance is required.

The insured may own the policy but name the ex-spouse as beneficiary. The divorce agreement would then stipulate that the policy be kept in force for the spouse receiving maintenance.

Credit can be a critical issue after a divorce. Whenever possible, joint accounts should be closed. Notify the credit bureau of new addresses and your new marital status. If there are credit problems following the divorce, lenders and the credit bureau should be notified and asked for their assistance in restoring good credit.
